Early Childhood Program

The majority of early childhood programs take place at Jefferson Early Childhood Center. Our programs provide services to meet the needs of children between the ages of 3 and 5 who experience educational challenges and are found eligible for special education services. About 2/3 of Jefferson students have some type of a special need or disability and 1/3 of students are typically developing students who pay tuition to attend the school. Instructional (special education), Blended Classrooms (special education and typical peers), Phonology (significant focus on speech acquisition) and Speech (mild speech/language issues) comprise the four types of programs offered in our district.

Transition Program

This unique program serves students who, based on the transition plan in their IEP, need concentrated, structured support to prepare for the transition from the school environment to the adult community. Eligibility continues to the day prior to the 22nd birthday. Life skills, vocational training, functional academics, and social skills are emphasized. The Student Services Team determines enrollment for this program based on the need for additional training and support to achieve greater autonomy as an adult.
