ACADEMIC READING (I)
Length: Two Semesters
Grade: 9
Prerequisite: None
Qualifies for: General Elective Credit

Academic Reading is intended for students who seek to improve all levels of reading performance. Reading skills are assessed and individualized reading interventions are designed for the purpose of improving reading skills for success in high school and increasing interest in reading for lifelong learning.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND COMPOSITION (A)
Length: Two Semesters
Grade: 11
Prerequisite: Sophomore English

The Advanced Placement English Language and Composition course serves as an introduction to the equivalent of the freshman college course in composition and/or rhetoric. AP Language and Composition is a college-level course, which requires students to complete written assignments representative of higher levels of synthesis of non-fiction material, including graphics and other visual forms through the study of American Literature. The course offers additional instruction in argumentation and teaches the skills of synthesizing, summarizing, paraphrasing, quoting, and citing secondary source material. Students choosing Advanced Placement English Language and Composition should be interested in studying and writing various kinds of analytic and persuasive essays.
ADVANCED PLACEMENT ENGLISH LITERATURE AND COMPOSITION (A)
Length: Two Semesters
Grade: 12
Prerequisite: Junior English
The Advanced Placement English Literature and Composition course is designed to engage students in the careful reading and critical analysis of imaginative literature. Through the close reading of selected texts, students can deepen their understanding of the ways writers use language to provide both meaning and pleasure for their readers. The course requires intensive study of representative works from various genres and periods, concentrating on works of recognized literary merit.

Writing is also an integral part of the Advanced Placement English Literature and Composition course, for the Advanced Placement Examination is weighted toward student writing about literature. Writing assignments focus on the critical analysis of literature and include expository, analytical, and argumentative essays.

Outcomes for freshman year focus on specific skills in reading and interpreting literature; writing a variety of clear, well-constructed compositions; thinking critically and creatively; managing information and technology; organizing time and study skills; speaking and listening; and personal skills.
ENGLISH PROGRAM

GIFTED JUNIOR SEMINAR (A)
Length: One Semester
Grade: 11
Prerequisite: Gifted Global Seminar, AP United States History, and A Level English
Qualifies for: General Elective Credit Only
Gifted Junior Seminar is a discussion-based course that offers an opportunity for students to actively pursue an examination of life. Students will examine the ideas and theories of the great thinkers of the world and apply these ideas to shape their own definition of how they perceive the world and how they should live their life. To accomplish this, students will explore: the nature of truth, the contrast between knowledge and wisdom, the structure of reality, man’s responsibility on the earth, the relationship between faith and reason, the validity of individual and societal progress, the perceptions of time in relation to how we live, and how aesthetic concepts impact how we understand the world.

INTRODUCTION TO ACTING (I)
Length: One Semester
Grades: 10, 11, 12
Prerequisite: None
Qualifies for: Fine Arts Credit or Speech Credit
Introduction to Acting is designed to help students improve character analysis skills, understand themselves as a performer, and improve their acting and improvisational skills. Students will study different styles of acting and apply those styles to their performances. Students will be assessed by their research, effort, and performance of monologues, soliloquies, duet performances, and group performance projects. Body movement will reinforce these skills and vocal exercises along with improvisational activities.

JOURNALISM (I)
Length: One Semester
Grades: 10, 11, 12
Prerequisite: None
Journalism is concerned with five basic areas of journalism: the mass media and the newspaper’s role, parts of the newspaper, writing newspaper stories, newspaper staff organization, and newspaper production. The course is designed for the student interested in newspaper reporting. The student becomes informed about the various branches of the mass media and continues to learn the basics of journalism through actual news assignments for the school paper.

JUNIOR ENGLISH (I)
Length: Two Semesters
Grade: 11
Prerequisite: None
Junior English integrates advanced principles of composition with the study of American literature. Various writing experiences are included, with special emphasis on rhetorical analysis and research. The study of American literature exposes the student to fiction, nonfiction, poetry, and drama. Both semesters include the reading of texts by American writers of diverse backgrounds.

POETRY (I)
Length: One Semester
Grades: 11, 12
Prerequisite: None
Students in this contemporary poetry course will study poetry of the last fifty years from song lyrics to poems being written and published today. They will investigate and discuss themes, trends, styles, devices, voices, and methods of presentation. Throughout the course, students will discuss, write about, and present poems to various audiences. Note: this is a literature class. The focus is on the study of poetry rather than the writing of poetry.

SENIOR RHETORIC (I)
Length: One Semester
Grade: 12
Prerequisite: None
Senior Rhetoric is an elective course in writing for seniors who are planning to go to college. It is designed as a final course in writing for seniors in order to give them additional preparation for the level of writing that colleges require. The course covers four areas: early problems of writer’s stance and outline, grammar/application, seven strategies for developing themes and writing better themes, and handling specific assignments such as writing a persuasive argument, the literary paper, and the research paper. Each student will write a number of carefully prepared themes with necessary revisions as suggested by the instructor, two in-class themes, and a final research paper.

SOPHOMORE ENGLISH (I, A)
*Length: Two Semesters
*Grade: 10
Prerequisite: None

Sophomore English takes a thematic approach to the study of literature, writing, thinking, and speaking. Through the exploration of the various broad and transcendent themes, students learn to analyze fiction and nonfiction; compose clear and well-organized expository, narrative, persuasive, and creative pieces of writing; work cooperatively in groups; use available technology effectively; and think critically and creatively. This course builds on the skills and concepts introduced in Freshman English.

SURVEY OF MODERN & CONTEMPORARY LITERATURE (I)
*Length: One Semester
*Grades: 11, 12
Prerequisite: None

Survey of Modern & Contemporary Literature is an English elective on the junior/senior level that introduces students to a wide selection of contemporary authors through modern novels, short stories, and drama. The general goal of the course is to develop knowledge and understanding of modern literature in its varying themes so that the students may increase their range of ideas, their sensitivity to themselves and others, and their ability to enjoy modern literature. Selected works may include mature themes and language.

THEMES IN LITERATURE (I)
*Length: One Semester
*Grades: 11, 12
Prerequisite: None

Themes in Literature is a course designed to provide students with in-depth coverage of one particular theme/topic from the vast collection of available literature. Each year the high school English departments identify the particular theme to be offered by each school. Themes may include African-American Literature, Women in Literature, Fantasy, Ancient War and Literature, Popular Literature, and others as suggested by current trends in literature education. The course includes extensive reading within the theme area, active class discussion, and a final paper/project drawn from the theme area. The themes are selected prior to the registration process and are available from the assigned counselor and/or any English teacher at the respective high schools in January.
