

How Does My Child Learn About Numbers?

- Your child learns about numbers and operations when he/she:
- Helps set the table and passes out one glass for each person;
- Counts how many cookies are on the plate;
- Counts how many are left after he/she eats one;
- Sorts things into groups and uses numbers describe how many objects are in a group.